

A Student Union Tour Through the Eyes of an Architect

Your task is to explore the Tressider Memorial Union. However, instead of looking at it through your own eyes, imagine that you are Emma, a 40-year-old architect who is exploring how space has an impact on how people interact. Emma is planning to build a campus space in Iowa, and is at Stanford looking for inspiration in the varied locations on campus. She is intrigued by how people interact at a student union. As your tour guide shows you around, notice what might be interesting to Emma and respond accordingly as you role-play.

